 - (c) between relatives by direct or indirect line affinity up to third degree,
 - (d) between an adopted and an adopting person or their descendants,
 - (e) between a child born outside a marriage and the father who has recognized thereof or his blood relatives.

Invalid
Marriages

Cap. 279

- 18. (1) For the purposes of paragraph (a) of clause (2) of section 17 -

Dissolution or annulment of existing

- (a) The dissolution or annulment of a marriage including a religious and civil marriage becomes irrevocable after the expiry of the deadline for filing an action,
- (b) when filing an action, the dissolution or annulment of a marriage, including a religious and civil marriage, is suspended until the issue of a decision on the action,
- (c) the right to file an action is irrevocably written off if, any of the parties contracts a new marriage before the expiry of the deadline for filing an action,
- (d) when a marriage is contracted before the end of the deadline for filing an appeal, the marriage shall not be null if no action was filed within the said deadline,
- (e) in case there coexist both a civil and a religious marriage or there are more than one marriages, the dissolution or annulment by the Court of one of the coexisting marriages shall result, for the purposes of this Law, to the dissolution of and annulment of the other marriage.

(2) The spouses may declare before the Court that they consider their marriage valid, before it is declared void pursuant to the provisions of this Law.

19.- (1) A Marriage shall be deemed as nonexistent -

- (a) if performed without the declaration provided in section 9 (1),
- (b) if not performed by a Marriage Officer or a registered minister of religion,
- (c) if it is a marriage of convenience,
- (d) if it was performed while there was a prohibiting order issued by any court,
- (e)

(2) For the purposes of this section, a “convenience marriage” means a marriage celebrated between a citizen of the Republic of Cyprus or an alien who has his domicile in the Republic of Cyprus with an alien, with the exclusive purpose that the alien enters and obtains permanent residence in the Republic of Cyprus.

Marriage

Write off of annulment

(3) No action may be filed for the annulment of a marriage subject to clause (1) of section 21, by the spouse who was under misconception or was coerced to contract a marriage that is voidable by virtue of a misconception or coercion as provided in paragraphs (b) and (c) of clause (2) of section 14, after the lapse of six months from the date when the misconception was resolved or the threat was lifted accordingly.

24. A marriage which is annulled or declared void by an irrevocable judicial judgment, ceases to have any effect from the date of the issue of the judgment, and a marriage recognized by such judgment as nonexistent, shall have no effect:

Effect of Annulment

Provided that, the provisions of this section do not affect any provisions of any other laws regulating the rights of persons in such marriages.

25. Children born to a marriage which is annulled or is declared void or acknowledged as nonexistent by a court decision, maintain the status of a child born to a marriage.

Status of children in void marriage

- 26. (1) The acknowledgement of a marriage as nonexistent pursuant to clause (2) of section 21, has only future effect in relation to the spouse who when contracting the marriage was unaware of the defect of the marriage or in relation to both spouses in case they were both unaware of the defect:

Provided that, when only one of the spouses was unaware of the defectiveness of the marriage at the time of contracting the marriage, he has against the other spouse who knew of the defectiveness at that time, and in the case of a death of the other after the court decision, the rights for the time being in force in the case of a divorce.

(2) the spouse who was forced to contract a marriage under threat, illegally or contrary to the moral standards, has also the rights for the time being in force in the case of a divorce, in the case of death of the other spouse after the annulment of the marriage.

- 27.- (1) A Marriage may be dissolved by a court decision, read -

(a) With respect to a marriage solemnized pursuant to the provisions of this Law, and a civil marriage within the context of the paragraph (b) of clause (1) of section 17, by the Family Court in a divorce action filed in the said Court,

(b) with respect to a civil marriage, which is dissolved under the jurisdiction of a family court established pursuant to the Family Court (Religious Groups) Laws of 1994 to 1998, from the said family court in a divorce action filed in the said court.

Grounds for divorce

- 40. (1) Application of this Law shall not affect in any way any marriage performed under the provisions of the laws repealed by this Law.

(2) Any minister of religion, who at the time of this Law coming into effect, is registered, under the provisions of the Marriage Law Cap. 279, shall continue to have the right to solemnize marriages in accordance to the provisions of this Law:

Provided that in the case of a marriage celebrated by the aforesaid ministers of religion, the provisions of this Law with respect to the conditions for celebrating a valid marriage shall apply, as well as the celebration of the marriage.

(3) (a) the Minister of Interior may register, upon their application, new certified or recognized ministers of religion of any religion, denomination or body, upon a verification of the recognized head of the denomination to which they belong. The names of the registered ministers of religion shall be recorded in a special register and published in the Official Gazette of the Republic during the month of January of each year.

(b) The Minister of Interior may at any time delete the name of a registered minister of religion from the register, in liaison with the head of the denomination to which the minister of religion belongs.

(4) The provisions of clauses (2) and (3) shall not apply for a marriage celebrated by a minister of a religious group, within the context of paragraph 3 of Section 2 of the Constitution, or the Greek Orthodox Church, if both persons intending to contract a marriage belong to that Church.

Section 9

MARRIAGE CEREMONY

A. The Marriage Officer reads the following text:

“Let it be known by you.....and

.....that by your simultaneous consent given publicly and formally in my presence and in the presence of the persons now here, accept each other as your lawful spouse and with the attestation of this fact by signing your names to that effect, you contract a lawful marriage for the purposes of the Civil Law.

And let it further be known, that this marriage cannot be dissolved during your lifetime except by a valid judgment of a court. If either of you (before the death of the other) contracts a marriage while this one remains undissolved you will thereby be guilty of bigamy, and be liable to the consequences provided by the law.

B. Declaration by the one party to the other before the Marriage Officer and two witnesses.

“I call upon all persons here present to witness that I

.....accept you.....as my lawful spouse, to love and to share with you as from this day, moments of joy and sorrow, wealth and poverty, happiness and unhappiness, throughout our life until death do separate us.

C. Declaration by the Marriage Officer

“As from this moment I pronounce you man and wife. You are joined together by your free consent in matrimony and you owe each other love, fidelity and respect throughout your life. This marriage constitutes the fulfillment of your life and links your destinies on good and rainy days, in happiness and unhappiness, in wealth and poverty , until death do separate you.

On the basis of equality you should face together all the problems and all the difficulties of life. Together you should shoulder the burdens of marriage each one according to you capabilities. You have both the right and obligation to take care for the upbringing and education of your children so that they may become useful and good citizens and free personalities.”
